HOW TO DEHORN

WHEN

► It is recommended to perform dehorning as soon as possible, before the age of 4 weeks for calves and before 2 weeks for kids.

BEFORE

- Immobilize the animal in a cattle crush.
- Shave around the horn bud before cauterizing in order to:
 - clearly see the location of the future horn bud;
 - avoid getting hair in the wound, which can be a source of infections;
 - clearly see how well the cauterization has been performed.

DURING

- Apply the tip of the dehorner on the horn bud to cauterize the blood vessels and stop its growth.
- Do not tear off the horn bud in order to limit the potential infection area.
The horn bud will dry and fall off by itself.

AFTER

- Carefully look at the cauterization ring. A 5 mm / 0.20 in-deep groove should be visible around the horn bud. There should be nothing connecting the skin and the horn bud.
- Apply the antiseptic and repellent spray.

IT IS RECOMMENDED TO:

- Either inject a tranquilizer or, preferably, apply local anaesthetic to the cornual nerve, in order to ensure the comfort of the animal and farmer.
- Use a long-acting anti-inflammatory drug to limit harmful consequences of dehorning: refusal to use headlock panels, loss of appetite, isolation.
- Avoid dehorning while another treatment (vaccine, etc.) is being administered.
